POINCARÉ ASKS DUEL; INSULTED IN PARLIAMENT

Seconds Meet; Try to Patch Up Row.

PARIS, March 7.—(By the Associated Press.)—Premier Poincaré today met seconds to Gaston Le Provost de Launay, member of the chamber of deputies, to challenge the deputy to a duel because of a remark made by him in this afternoon's session which the premier considered offensive.

M. Poincaré's seconds are M. Maginot, minister of war, and M. Sarraut, minister of colonies. M. de Launay asked Deputy Taittinger and Bouton to represent him.

The seconds of the two men met and decided that the remarks did not reflect on the honor of the premier and that, therefore, a duel was not justified. The belief was expressed by the seconds that the principals would accept their conclusions.

FRANC GOES LOWER.

BY HENRY WALLIS.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(Copyright, 1924, by The Chicago Tribune.)

PARIS, March 7.—(Tribune Radio.)—The franc dropped sharply today, losing almost a full point against the dollar, closing at 25.35, while the pound was worth 118 francs 5 centimes, against 104 francs yesterday.

The newspapers were forced to take cognizance of the weakness of the currency after attempting to ignore it for several days on a request from the government. Every one is asking for the reason.

And newspapers and even asking the telephone operators. Jokers remark that the Dawes experts committee had better drop marks and tackle franc and try to stabilize the French currency first.

Expect Big Price Advances.

Prices are mounting gradually, but it is expected that there will be a sharp, simultaneous advance of every commodity.

It is conceded everywhere that the latest drop is due to the inflation of 100,000,000 francs ($25,000,000) currency last week, bringing the French currency issues to a total of 40,250,000,000 francs ($10,000,000,000). The bank of France can issue 41,000,000,000 francs ($10,250,000,000), and it is feared that this may be reached this coming week.

May Provoke Parliament.

If the senate refuses to rush the passage of Premier Poincaré's financial reform bills, including an additional 20 per cent taxation and the power to derive laws, the premier may demand that the present parliament's powers be prorogued for a year.

This would require President Millerand to summon a national assembly, with the senate and chamber of deputies would proceed to Versailles to vote for the election of a president.

Because of the financial situation many prominent politicians believe the elections should be postponed at least a year.

TELLS OF TAX BILL.

A. Barthelmy, French consul in Chicago, in discussing France's proposed financial measures, said:

"It is not generally known that the receipts in 1913 amounted to 3,997,000,000 francs. Last year, not taking the war tax into account, it reached 21,444,000,000, which means an increase of 500 per cent—14.4:500. The receipts for 1923 were 3,997,000,000 francs. The proposals now before parliament call upon the French people to make a further effort by paying taxes to the amount of 625 francs per head instead of 500. There is no doubt as to their answer."

MANIAC SEIZED MENACING LIFE OF U. S. MARSHAL

A. A. Arnold, last of the fourteen insane patients who escaped during the Dunsmuir fire to be large, was captured last night after he had gone to the federal building with the avowed intention of killing United States Marshal Robert R. Levy and J. P. Rooney, chief of the federal bureau of investigation.

The trace of Arnold had been picked up about the escape of the night of March 26, until several days ago, when he appeared at the federal building and asked employees to point out Mr. Levy and Mr. Rooney.

Although the man obviously was insane, it is said, he was not dangerous at the time.

Although Arnold was sent to Dunsmuir at the instance of the government, neither Mr. Levy nor Mr. Rooney had any part in his case, they said.

MILLIONS IN RUM AND BONDS STOLEN BY GANG

O'Bannon Is Named in Duffy Slaying.

"Now that I have named O'Bannon publicly you might as well bury me as Roosevelt road and Newberry avenue."—Statement of William Engelke in Judge Joseph B. Davis's court yesterday.

Federal authorities, working through agents of the postoffice, department of justice, district attorney, United States marshal, and the prohibition office, have rounded up evidence against a small group of Chicago millionaires bootleggers, robbers, and gangsters indicating one "master hand" in the following "crimes":

1. The $2,000,000 Duane station robbery.
2. The $1,000,000 Western Brothers' warehouse burglary.
3. The $500,000 Sibley warehouse house robbery.
4. The shooting of "Davy" Miller by Dean O'Bannon.
5. The Duffy-Riley murders.

The Predatory Rich.

The ring leaders in this coterie of moneyed gangsters, according to evidence already uncovered, are expected to be developed in the person of Barney Bertische, Dean O'Bannon, and Dan McCarthy. Nearly every bit of fresh evidence that is being dug up hourly by federal sleuths as well as the police points to the hand of at least one of these somewhere along the line in one or more of the crimes mentioned.

Downs of lesser lights in the criminal world, all satellites of the master gangsters and sometimes followers in the retinues of all three, are found to have participated in one way or another in two or more of these major depredations.

Cite Sibley Robbery.

Federal investigators also have been working on evidence that the Sibley warehouse robbery, in which $500,000 cases of bonded whisky constituted the prize, may have supplied motives for both the shooting of "Davy" Miller in front of the La Salle theater on Jan. 20 and also, indirectly, for the killing of John Duffy.

Dean O'Bannon was named in court yesterday by William Engelke as the man who led Duffy into a waiting automobile just before he started on his last ride, which ended with his bullet-riddled body being heaved into a snow drift beside the Joliet road on the southwest side.

O'Bannon was accused by "Maxie" Miller as the man who fired the shots in front of the La Salle theater which wounded him and his brother, "Davy."

Aids of O'Bannon.

Dan McCarthy, now being sought in connection with the Duffy murders, was also named in the Miller shooting, along with "Yankee" Schwartz and Earl ("Polack") Weiss. They are all said to have been O'Bannon's companions, who waited with him in the theater lobby for the Miller brothers to emerge.

In fact, when O'Bannon and McCarthy were arrested in connection with the Miller shooting they were said to be directing a hi-jacking raid along with Weiss on a $20,000 truckload of booze on the south side at 11 o'clock in the morning. The booze, it was disclosed, had but a few hours before been nestling in the Sibley warehouse.

McCarthy, it has been shown, was one of the persons consulted in Eiler's restaurant on Roosevelt road by Duffy and Engelke at the time they were supposed to have been making the rounds to find some "right guys" to help dispose of the body of Maybelle Exler.

Bertische Comes Back?

Of all those whose names have been brought into one robbery or another, only one has kept close of having the finger of proof placed on his doorstep. That is Barney Bertische, erstwhile man can do lux and destroyed king of the old wiseguys and clairvoyants "truds." Bertische has been keeping low on the north side, but in every case in which a large number of bonds or stocks have been stolen and sent to the evidence tended to show that the stolen loot was disposed of through two persons or their confederates, Bertische and John W. Worthington, the "old gray wolf" of La Salle street.

The parts that some of the cast of crime have played in the various "jobs" are difficult to trace. For instance, there is Joe Bertische, a brother of Barney, and Joe Rine, both listed in the gossip of the underworld as expert safebreakers. While all of thirty indictments which have been voted in connection with the United States.

Messrs. Lake and Druggan Fool U. S. Again

Terry Druggan and Frank Lake, millionaire brewery owners, and federal fugitives, who were expected to surrender to Assistant United States District Attorney William F. Waugh yesterday morning, failed to put in their appearance.

Reports reached the federal building that both were slightly indisposed after attending a boxing show in Milwaukee Thursday night.

Their attorney, John F. Bolton, told federal officials that Druggan and Lake's revised plans for surrender called for appearance "on or before St. Patrick's day."

"PEACE SANS VICTORY" PHRASE IS EXPLAINED BY WILSON'S LETTER

Baltimore, Md., March 7.—The first explanation ever given by Woodrow Wilson of his phrase, "Peace Without Victory," which caused controversy shortly before America's entrance into the world war, was made public here tonight by St. Huston Thompson, chairman of the federal trade commission and a close friend and adviser of the late President.

Mr. Thompson read part of a personal letter, embodying the explanation, at the annual dinner of the Princeton Alumni Association of Maryland. This portion of the letter, which was dated Dec. 31, last, follows:

"The phrase, 'Peace Without Victory,' was introduced by me as a warning against a vindictive triumph such as too many seemed at that time to desire as an outcome of the war. The idea of many was to punish the Germans and not merely to put a final check upon the reckless and arrogant German government. What I meant to say, therefore, was that we must beat them for the sake of the principles involved, but not in order to humiliate and destroy them."

Candler Says He Was Victim of 'Frame-Up'

Decatur, Ga., March 7.—Walter T. Candler, Atlanta capitalist, did not attempt an attack on Mrs. Clyde Byfield, but was a victim of a plot by her husband, Clyde K. Byfield, to exact money from him, according to Candler's testimony late today in the trial of Mrs. Byfield's $100,000 damage suit against him for alleged attack upon her on board the steamship Berengaria, bound for France in 1922.

A verdict is expected in the case late tomorrow. When court recessed late today it was announced that jury arguments would begin early tomorrow and probably would be concluded during the early afternoon.

Fought in Woman's Room.

The defendant took the stand after the defense had read many depositions to the jury, put up five medical experts and more than a score of character witnesses.

"Byfield threatened to blow my brains out," Candler testified, "if I did not sign a check for $25,000 three minutes after he and Byfield had a fight in Mrs. Byfield's stateroom. The defendant stated that Byfield had the check already filled out and when I told him that I was the best friend he had he roared at me:

"Write that check! Write that check! Write that check!"

Alleged "Raiding Game."

Mr. Candler said he had gone to the Byfield's stateroom to inquire as to the condition of Mrs. Byfield, as she had been "drinking more champagne than was good for her," and that he believed Mr. and Mrs. Byfield were both in the room. He denied vehemently that there had been anything improper in his conduct, stating that such a charge was "absolutely false."

"Ah, ha, I caught you at last," Candler stated that Byfield informed him, as the latter rushed into the room. "I've been suspecting this for six months—now, you've got to pay."

The witness continued to quote as Byfield's alleged remarks:

"He accused me of attacking his wife. He pulled out a check," continued the witness, "and demanded that I sign it."

Signed Check to Save a Scene.

"She knew he did that—she knew he did it, even if she said she did not," the witness exclaimed. "I would not have signed the check but Byfield was yelling at the top of his voice, so I signed to hush his noise."

Candler testified as to Byfield threat-

CALL TO SMALL'S STANDARD HEARD BY LABOR CZARS

Pardoned Leaders Rally
'Round for Votes.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.
Michael J. Boyle, pardoned by Gov. Small; William Quessa, who is seeking a pardon; Robert Osterberg, who is petitioning for a pardon; Claude Peters, for whom a pardon is being sought; Frank Buchanan, former Democratic congressman, who was indicted during the war for his alleged activities in connection with a so-called national peace council, and several union labor leaders are preparing to "deliver" union labor—so far as they can—to Gov. Len Small at the primary election next month.

A political emissary of Gov. Small was in town last week quietly attempting to "line up all union labor" for his candidacy. This representative is said to have been Col. Samuel N. Hamon of the Illinois National Guard, who received much publicity in the Morris massacre and the subsequent legislative investigation of it. He is reported to have addressed a number of union leaders last Saturday, among whom were those named above.

First Meeting Today.
At a starter, they proposed another meeting for today, to which the governor's agent was invited and which he is said to have promised to be present. At this meeting the union leaders have decided to put through a program calling for a big meeting of union labor at the Coliseum before the April primaries.

At the scheduled meeting today it is natural to presume there will be present Eugene Woodcock, who has petitioned for a pardon; John J. Sullivan, who is asking a pardon; George Waters, another pardon seeker; John Mattia, still another in quest of a pardon; Peter Lacy, one more petitioner for a pardon, and Gus Anderson, still another who wants a commutation or a pardon, preferably the latter. All these laborers are connected with the laborers' union, and have been circulating pledge cards for his election. Incidentally their case is up before the state supreme court, after delays, the day before the primary. That tribunal has already upheld their conviction. The question now is a rehearing.

Another Shining Light.
Thomas F. Jakubowski, of the hod carriers' union, can also be reasonably expected to be at the meeting today. He was indicted and convicted of killing a union street car conductor who was working overtime as a hodoconductor to get money to pay for his little home and his wife's doctor bills. Jakubowski arrived at the penitentiary July 6, 1920, and his sentence was commuted by Gov. Small on Aug. 2, last.

Perhaps Arthur Benedict Raymond, one of the barbers' union, will also be present, although it was reported yesterday that he recently has been thrown out of his union office because of alleged shortage in his accounts. When Raymond may not be present, it will amount almost to ingratitude if he is not. He entered the penitentiary May 15, 1921, and his sentence was commuted by Gov. Small to expire Dec. 13 of that same year, giving him only seven months of his two years' sentence, his penalty for conviction for conspiracy. There are others who have been favored by executive clemency.

Boyle May Be There.
Mike Boyle of the electricians' union is reported to be one of the leaders in the movement to aid the governor, and undoubtedly Boyle is a strong character.

In the investigation of the jury which acquitted Gov. Small at Waukegan of the charge of pocketing $2,000,000 in interest on state funds Boyle was sought to tell what he knew about the subject. He was finally found. He refused to talk. He was granted im-

Oil Scandal Revives Killing Scandal

CLARA SMITH HAMON GORMAN.

Called as Witnesses

Following publication of an interview in which Leonard Wood Jr. is said to have stated that the "oil ring" would have given the 1920 Republican nomination for the presidency to his father, Gen. Leonard Wood, in exchange for certain pledges to permit the looting of the naval reserves, the senate oil committee has issued subpoenas for Clara Smith Hamon (now Mrs. Gorman), who was acquitted of killing Jake Hamon, Oklahoma national oil committee man, who is alleged to have been involved in the "oil ring" activities; Jake Hamon Jr., son of the dead politician, and for young Wood. They will be questioned about the "oil ring" and offers it is also said to have made to Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois and candidate for the 1920 nomination. Both Gen. Wood and Mr. Lowden are said to have indignantly refused the "oil ring's" proffers.

munty, but still was silent. Judge Welch decreed that he should go to jail for six months and pay a fine of $1,000. Boyle skipped out, but later was caught and lodged in jail. He made four different attempts to get out, but was unable to find any judge who would accommodate him. Oct. 22 Gov. Small stepped forward with a pardon in the form of a commutation of sentence. State's Attorney A. V. Smith of Lake county has taken the case to the state supreme court. This tribunal has deferred at two terms a decision on the validity of the governor's pardon.

About Quessa Et Al.
William Quessa, Claude Peters, and Robert Osterberg are officials of the laborers' union who were convicted of conspiracy. The evidence against them was the extortion of money from landlords by threats of preventing the delivery of coal and groceries to the buildings and sometimes the smashing of windows and the throwing of a bomb. Their shakedown requests varied from $20 to $1,000 each, although the highest collection from any one individual was said to have been $2,000.

In sending out pledge cards to be signed for the governor, Quessa wrote: "Gov. Small has been and is the friend of organized labor, and he is entitled to the support of all good union men."

ONE JUDGE FREES ANOTHER'S SON OF SPEED CHARGE

Young Walker Cleared on Technicality.

Henry K. Walker, Jr., son of the Municipal Judge who sat for many months in the Speeders' court, was discharged in that same court yesterday on a charge of speeding when Judge Fitch held that a legal flaw nullified the complaint filed by the police. Just before the case was called, and it was the last one called, a bailiff approached a newspaper photographer and said the judge had ordered that no pictures be taken in young Walker's case.

The clerk murmured the name, "Henry K. Walker Jr." An attorney and the arresting policeman went up to the bench. The attorney said the complaint had not been sworn to before a judge within three days after the arrest. The judge sustained a motion to quash the complaint and discharged Walker.

Never Heard of Rule.
North Shore Policeman Walter E. Gregory, who arrested Walker on March 2, was not permitted to testify. Later he said he had never heard of the rule requiring him to swear to a complaint before a judge, but that he was told in court after Walker was discharged that it was an old rule which the police a few days ago were again ordered to enforce.

It was while Judge Walker was in the Speeders' court that he sentenced "Miss Elizabeth Stark" to five days in the Bridewell and then released her after she had served only a few hours. The judge, after visiting "Miss Stark's" home and after a conference with another judge, declared the girl, whom he had found guilty of driving with a married man in the early morning hours while she was intoxicated, was "too refined" to spend five days in jail.

The Files Disappear.
After court had adjourned, a reporter asked the clerk to permit him to examine the record in young Walker's case. The clerk curtly said: "The files are down in the clerk's office." There, it was insisted, the files were still in Judge Fitch's court, so another demand was made on the clerk, who then replied he had been ordered not to let "any one see the court files," and repeated he didn't have the Walker file.

A complaint was lodged with James A. Kearns, clerk of the Municipal court, who immediately ordered his chief clerk to see that the record was produced. When the chief clerk demanded the file and knowledge of its whereabouts, Judge Fitch's clerk produced it and said it had been "up in Judge Walker's court."

Death Clock Moves.
Another death was added yesterday to the county's motor death toll, which since Jan. 1 totals eighty. Julius Fredrickson, 48 years old, 613 Milwaukee avenue, was killed when he was struck by an automobile driven by Edward Chawleski, 2522 North Richmond street. The driver was held.

Martin Sussman, 3 years old, 445 South 14th avenue, Maywood, was perhaps fatally injured yesterday when he was struck by a taxicab driven by Lewis DeTrain, 141 North 20th avenue, Maywood. DeTrain was charged with assault.

HANDS OF DEATH

The hands of the clock indicate the number of deaths by autos, guns and moonshine in Cook county since Jan. 1 last.

HUNT CAFE MAN FOR CALLAHAN DEATH INQUIRY

Roger Kilcumming, owner of the Claremont cafe, a "black and tan" resort at 39th street and Indiana avenue, was being sought by the police last night in connection with the fatal shooting of William Callahan, an assistant manager and "bouncer" in the cafe.

Callahan was shot while in the cafe early Wednesday morning and died on Thursday. He refused to name his assailant.

Search for Kilcumming was started after Joseph Pask, a taxicab chauffeur, admitted the wounded Callahan was carried out of the cafe and deposited in his cab. He named Kilcumming as one of the men who had assisted Callahan from the cafe and identified Jacob Grandman of 3523 South State street, now under arrest, as one of three men who rode past way to the hospital.

Pask previously had said he found Callahan lying wounded on the steps leading to the "L" station at 46th street and Indiana avenue.

"I lied because they threatened to bump me off if I told where I got Callahan," he explained.

GIVEN LIFE TERM FOR ATTACK ON 7 YEAR OLD GIRL

It took fifteen minutes yesterday for a jury to decide that Dewey Becker, alias Baker, was guilty of attacking a 7 year old girl. The jury's recommendation that he be sentenced to prison for life was immediately acted upon by Judge Frederic De Young, who sentenced him a few minutes after the verdict was read.

Becker, who is 24 years old and who has a police record of stealing automobiles, lured his little victim into a garage last August and criminally mistreated her. Testimony showed that before the case went to trial friends of Becker tried to induce the mother, a widow, to accept a sum of money and refuse to prosecute.

Two Blinded by Snow Meet Death Under Train

J. J. Brozman, 4919 Washington boulevard, a locomotive engineer, and J. F. McFadden, 2070 Folk street, a brakeman, both employed by the Pennsylvania railroad, were killed early yesterday by a freight train in the yards at Robey and Kinzie streets. The men are believed to have been blinded by the snow and to have walked into the path of the train.

CARLSON WINS ACQUITTAL AT GRAFT TRIAL

Henderson Also Freed of Loot Charge.

George E. Carlson was acquitted by a jury yesterday of a charge that he had conspired, as commissioner of gas and electricity during the Thompson regime in the city hall, to loot the city treasury of $250,000.

The jury, which deliberated nearly three hours, also freed Carlson's co-defendant, Arthur E. Henderson, president of the Electrical Materials company.

The state, in summing up the evidence to the jury, charged that Henderson had been paid at least $100,000 by Carlson's department for electrical materials that never have been delivered. It was charged that Carlson, by ordering his subordinates to issue false receipts for goods which Henderson should have and did not deliver, had made the payments possible.

Comment by Counsel.
Principals in the suit would comment briefly.

Prosecutor Fletcher Dobyns, who presented the state's case at this trial before Judge Charles A. Williams, and also at the first trial, in which the jury disagreed, said:

"I have nothing to say—except, perhaps, that justice is blind."

Defense Attorney Charles E. Erbstein, who was showered with praise by the defendants and their wives, and credited by them with having avoided a second disagreement, declared:

"The verdict speaks for itself." He was retained after the first jury's disagreement.

"It is God's will—not Mr. Brundage's," was Carlson's cry.

Henderson said: "I am glad we had a jury that couldn't be swayed by politics."

How They Voted.
The jurors came in for thanks expressed by the two defendants, their wives, and Mr. Erbstein. The foreman of the jury said three ballots had been taken, the first resulting in a standstill for acquittal, two for conviction, one in doubt. The two who voted to find the men guilty swung over to acquittal on the second ballot and on the third the doubtful one gave in.

STOCK BROKER HELD ON GIRL'S FRAUD CHARGE
Philip R. Manning, 5001 Sheridan road, a stock broker with offices at 123 West Madison street, was arrested yesterday on a charge of operating a confidence game preferred by Miss Agnes Then of Virgil, Ill. His bonds were fixed at $20,000.

According to Miss Then, Manning lured her father, John M. Then, a wealthy farmer, to take out a $17,000 mortgage on his lands and invest the money in stock of the National Underwriters of Chicago.

Later, she claims, the broker persuaded her father to trade this stock for stock in an Oklahoma oil concern.

BIG EXPOSITION HERE WILL SHOW STATE PRODUCTS

Fifteen regional leaders of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce, meeting yesterday at the Union League club, voted to hold a large exposition of state products in Chicago for ten days during next October.

The new project, to be known as the Illinois Products exposition, is announced as a non-profit making, non-political movement to promote the products grown and manufactured in this state. One of its founders' chief purposes is:

"To 'sell' Illinois, its products, and its opportunities to itself and to the nation."

A budget of $75,000 was underwritten and approved before yesterday's meeting adjourned. George Woodruff, president of the National Bank of the Republic, was elected general chairman.

The exposition is to be held, it was declared, as the first attraction to occupy the American Exposition palace, which will comprise the first floor of the $10,000,000 American furniture mart.

To further the success of the exposition it was voted to hold the annual meeting of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce, representing 117 chambers, in Chicago at the same time.

The following regional leaders were present: Dean C. M. Thompson of the University of Illinois; Oswald B. Franks, Peoria; George Woodruff, Chicago; John H. Camlin, Rockford; Harold B. Fuller, Lawrenceville; Ferdinand Kahl, Centralia; George Fox, Spicopore; Willis S. Harwood, Bloomington; C. L. Dodge, Waukegan; Ralph I. Willis, Galesburg; J. A. Ohlaver, Joliet; Frank S. Whiting, Chicago; Harry H. Chesapeake, Rock Island; P. F. McManus, Joliet, and Harvey T. Hill, Chicago.

MOTHERS FIGHT PLAN FOR SCHOOL NEAR PARENTAL

See Danger to Daughters
—Organize Protest.

(Picture on back page.)
Can school children strike?
Parents in the vicinity of St. Louis and Foster avenues claim they can and will, if forced, to attend the schools now being constructed on the southeast corner of the grounds of the Parental school.

This institution, established to afford a place of "confinement, discipline, or instruction and maintenance for children of compulsory age who are guilty of habitual truancy or persistent violation of the rules of the public school," houses at present about 200 boys, ranging in age from 8 to 14.
It received much publicity last summer when one of the boys hanged himself and investigation revealed unique methods of discipline and resulted in a change of administration and methods.

Parents Are Objecting.
The new portables are, perhaps, a block and a half from the institution buildings, but the grounds are farmed by the boys up to the very doors of the schools, and parents are objecting vigorously to exposing their children to the possible dangers of such proximity, especially since an adjoining cemetery adds to the situation.
"They say they'll put a fence up,"
said one mother, "but what's a fence to a bad boy? They're always running off and we know what type they are better than the board of education. The trustees wonder all over the ground—generates 15 years old and in the third grade! My little girl won't go there—I'll take her at home!"

Others Join Her.
Other mothers have joined her in signing a petition to the board of education asking that the portables be removed to the Hubbard school grounds,
at Spaulding avenue and Alsie street.
A couple of hundred signatures have already been obtained, and they expect to add more Sunday at one of the neighborhood churches, which has allowed time from its services for a presentation of the question. The Parent-Teachers' association will decide at its next meeting, on March 12,
whether or not it will lend moral support to the movement.

The board of education feels that there is no imminent danger, since the boys of the Parental school are closely supervised, and will, moreover, be fenced off from the portable grounds.
The Hubbard school grounds are already crowded, they say, and the location of the new portables at St. Louis and Foster avenues (the only ground
the city has available in that vicinity)
will afford relief until the completion of the new school on Bryn Mawr avenue.

KING OF HEDJAZ SETS UP SELF AS MOSLEM CALIPH

JERUSALEM, March 7.—(By the Associated Press.)—King Hussein of the Hedjaz has accepted an offer of the caliphate from the Moslems of Mesopotamia, Transjordan and the Hedjaz, who have proclaimed him caliph,
the Transjordanian government stated. It is expected, also, that the statement that other Arab-Moslem countries will follow their lead in selecting Hussein as head of the Islamic world.

BY STRAY BULLET.
Joseph Wajid, 25, 1351 West 19th street,
a patient maker, was hit in the shoulder
by a stray bullet early last night on his way to church at 15th and Thross streets.

MARTIN AGAIN SCHOOL BOARD STORM CENTER

His Name Tentatively Off Budget.

A protest against the appointment of Edward D. Martin as supervising architect of the board of education, and a promise of drastic reorganization of the pay roll, was made yesterday by John E. Byrnes, business manager of the board, before the building and grounds committee.

Mr. Byrnes pointed out that under the law he was responsible not only for the business departments but for the architectural and engineering departments. Consequently,
he asked permission to reorganize
the staff in line with his ideas.

Committee Defers Action.

When the Martin appointment came before the committee, Trustee Julius F. Smietana said the committee should decide whether the position of supervising architect should be created, and who should fill it. After a short discussion action was deferred until the next meeting.

Nearly all members of the committee were anxious to defer the question, but for different reasons. Some wanted to investigate the matter more thoroughly. Among these was Mrs.
W. S. Heffernan, a member of the committee.

"It too often happens," said Mrs.
Heffernan, "that the men on the committee act without consulting the women."

Earlier in the day, at a meeting of the board as a whole considering the budget, Mr. Martin's name, which had been placed in the budget at a salary of $10,000, was stricken off. Trustee Hart Hanson, who moved to leave it out, explained that this did not mean final elimination of Martin.

While considering the budget the board was told that the entire building program now authorized will be completed, as far as the architect's office is concerned, by June 1. Other plans for new buildings should be submitted by the superintendent immediately. John C. Christensen, the architect, told the board, in order to lose no time in lessening the congestion.

Here it developed Supt. McAndrew had proposed to establish a staff to prepare a comprehensive building program. It was brought out that he planned to have on his staff two out of town experts, to be paid $1,000 a month for three or four months.

To this Trustee J. Lewis Coath objected violently, but Trustee Hart Hanson backed Mr. McAndrew. The committee approved the McAndrew plan,
and it will come before the board soon.

MISSOURI BABY'S LIFE RESTORED BY ADRENALIN

Springfield, Mo., March 7.—(Special.)—Adrenalin brought a baby back to life today.

Mrs. E. S. Adams went shopping and took her baby with her. She discovered, when she looked into the baby carriage, that the infant's face was black. She screamed. A physician came and pronounced the baby dead.

Dr. Robert Glynn said there was one chance in a hundred of reviving the infant. He filled a syringe with adrenaline and pushed the needle through the chest and muscular walls of the baby's heart. Five drops were administered. The heart began to flutter, and then beat, and respiration began again.

tion robbery have been suppressed, it is known that Joe Bertache and Elise are among them.

The Werner Hebbory.
For months both the Pinkertons and Sergeants Frank Johnson and William Crot of the detective bureau have developed clues that the Werner Brothers robbery was engineered by Joe Bertache under the master guidance of his brother, Barney.

Another man under investigation,
whose name is withheld, is said to link
both the Bertache brothers and Elise indirectly with the Sibley warehouse booby robbery. A quarrel arising out of a booby dividend caused the "Davy"
Miller shooting by Dean O'Bannon, it is said.

The names of Wells and Schwartz have been mentioned too numerous in connection with the Duffy-Ezley murders to need explanation. It was "Frankie" Schwartz, according to the testimony of Mrs. Julian Kaufman and her husband, who sold her a number of articles of jewelry obtained in a holdup.

Trace Stolen Bonds.
The names of Worthington and others
of a group dealing in stolen bonds were brought out in tracing the location of both the Union Station and Werner warehouse robberies. Among these was Graham S. McGill, who told a story of having been kidnapped, beaten and robbed of $25,000 worth of the stolen Werner bonds in the "Stock ade" at 5458 North Western avenue, which, the federal authorities are said to have since learned, was being used at the time as a beer depot by Barney Bertache.

Then, too, there is Frank Miller, former business agent of the Electricians' union. Miller was one of the first to be arrested and indicted for complicity in the Werner robbery. He was sentenced to prison two weeks ago for stealing 2,000 gallons of pure grain alcohol from the United States Industrial Alcohol company.

The federal authorities have closed all sources of information in regard to the inquiry.

day for William Engelke. When Engelke named Dean O'Bannon as the man who led Duffy into an automobile
shortly before Duffy was murdered, Judge David demanded to know where O'Bannon was.

"He's not in custody," Deputy Superintendent of Police Matthew Zimmer replied.

Can't Find O'Bannon.
"I don't understand that," Judge David said. "Why isn't he in custody?"

"We've not been able to find him," Zimmer answered.

Engelke's attorneys, in asking the writ, informed Judge David their client was charged with accessory to two murders and with one robbery, and their purpose was to have the court release him.

SWEDISH PASTOR MISSING; CHURCH ASKS AID IN HUNT

The Rev. Fritz C. Hamlin, pastor of the Second Swedish Baptist church, 7844 Normal avenue, has been missing since Feb.
21, and members of his congregation have asked the trustees to aid in finding him.
His church plans
to celebrate its 50-th anniversary
next Sunday, and the members are anxious to find their pastor.

Before he disappeared the Rev.
Mr. Hamlin had received a call to the First Swedish Baptist church of St. Paul, which is the second largest congregation of that denomination in this country. He was scheduled to take his new charge on April 17.

fix ball for him on the murder charges.
Judge David ruled he was compelled to hear the petition, but that murder was not bailable if there was any presumption of guilt.

When, in the course of the testimony, it was stated that Julian Kaufman, millionaire's son, was released on bonds though also accused as an accessory to the murders, Judge David demanded to know the details.

Judge Schulman mentioned.
"Who admitted him to bail?" he wanted to know, and was told Municipal Judge Schulman had done so.

"On what theory could he accept bail on a murder charge?" the court again queried.

"He just did; that was all," Assistant State's Attorney Smith responded.

"Well, if I were state's attorney I would have requested the man," Judge

David declared. "But let's hear this case."

Assistant State's Attorney Smith related how Jeanne Malson had first implicated Engelke. Then Mrs. Lester Ezley, sister-in-law of the murdered woman, had identified the youth as being in the Duffy apartment on Wednesday, Feb. 20, a few hours before Maybelle came to her death, he stated. In addition, Engelke's finger prints were found on clothes in the Carmen avenue apartment, Mr.
Smith said.

Then Engelke's confession was related. Mr. Smith said there was no doubt the defendant was present when Maybelle was killed, and so far there is only Engelke's own statement that Duffy, and not he, did it. Engelke, it was related, had not told Sgt.
George Cudmore of the crime, though he met the sergeant before the woman's body was discovered.

Engelke Repeats Story.
Engelke then repeated the story as it was published, with the addition of naming O'Bannon.

"It was Thursday night, about a quarter of eight at Wabash avenue between 125 and 134 streets," Engelke testified, "and we were waiting, Duffy and myself. First we met Julian Kaufman, then a large sedan pulled out to the curb and O'Bannon got out."

"I heard O'Bannon say, 'I'll give you a grand or more.' They talked for a few seconds then started toward the car and I went the other way."

"You have no case against this man," Judge David said to Assistant State's Attorney Harold Levy and Smith.

Jeanne Malson was called as a witness by order of the court. The state's attorney's office is keeping her guarded in a hotel, and she was there within a few minutes after the court called for her.

She told of Engelke's suggestion to her that she get out of the city. Judge David said she didn't want to hear her entire story, then asked her:
"You have your suspicion as to who committed these murders, haven't you?"

She said she had, and the court asked if she had told all to the state's attorney's office. She answered yes.

EX-CHICAGOAN'S TRIAL IN RUSSIA WILL END TODAY

MOSCOW, March 7.—(By the Associated Press.)—As the trial of Alexander Krasnotchekoff, former Chicago lawyer, who was known as Abraham Stroller Robinson, on the charge of misusing bank funds, nears its final stages, the prosecutor, M. Krylenko, is seeking to show that the banker purchased wine and flowers for his secretary out of bank funds and that his acts were "unbecoming to the rigid life which communism demands of responsible officials." The arguments of both sides probably will end tomorrow.
Bank employees, belonging to the communist group, have testified that Krasnotchekoff paid little attention to their recommendations. The defendant explained he ran the bank by business methods, remarking that the state bank had had the same trouble with the communists.

He admitted carelessness and lack of tact, in lending money to his brother's company which, the state contends, started business on a shoe string and was able to operate later on a rich scale only because of the favors of the Commercial and Industrial bank.

NAWES' PLAN TO BE ACCEPTED BY ALLIES, GERMANY

Experts See Benefits to All Nations.

BY HENRY WALES.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
PARIS, March 7.—(Tribune Radio.)—The Tribune is informed tonight that the experts committee possesses complete assurance that their plans will be accepted by the allies and Germany.

The experts take the viewpoint that the "control commission" which will supervise the German budget, finances, and railways will be as valuable to Germany as to France. They contend the creditors are entitled to take precautionary measures against defaults, and the debtor should be glad to have an impartial audit of its resources, so there will not be any danger of suffering any ill advised or hasty measures from the hot headed creditor, who be lieves itself being defrauded.

The experts take the view that the policy of the allies to obtain reparations during the five years since the armistice has not proved a great success and, therefore, the allied governments will accept their plan, which provides machinery for substantial collections.

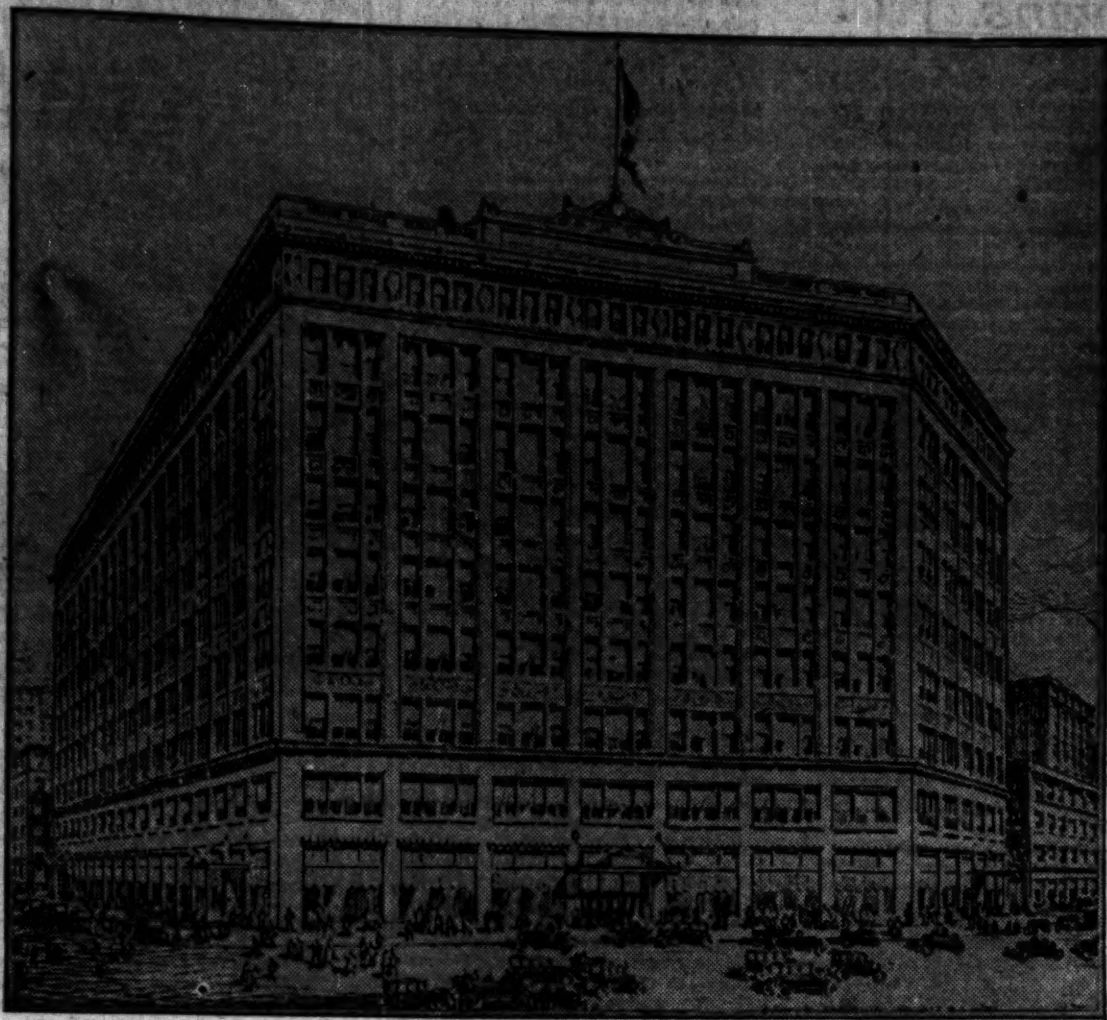

Stresemann to Back Water.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
BERLIN, March 7.—Foreign comment on Foreign Minister Stresemann's speech in the Reichstag yesterday, in which he refused permanent allied control of German armaments, coupled with the receipt of a note from the council of ambassadors today, has placed the foreign minister in a difficult position out of which he is already preparing to wriggle. Careful comment in the official inspired Berlin press today paves the way for a general retraction or an explanation of Herr Stresemann's stand on armaments.

It is understood here tonight that Herr Stresemann received a strong hint from some allied powers that his remarks would make France's position on the armament controversy much stronger and that they were especially flattered.

The German press takes pains to explain that Herr Stresemann only meant that Germany could not undertake to submit to perpetual allied control of its armaments, which is not provided by the treaty of Versailles.

German Workers Killed.
(By United Press.)—Three workers were killed and thirty-eight wounded in fighting with police at the Badische anilin works at Ludwigshafen today. Five police were wounded. Serious trouble is feared. One worker was killed yesterday and twenty wounded when the factory closed its doors, having out 20,000 workers.

Plan Big Department Store Outside Loop

Graham, Anderson, Probst & White have designed the new nine story department store to be erected by W. A. Wieboldt & Co. on part of the block bounded by Ashland and Ogden avenues, Monroe and Adams streets. This will be the company's third big store.

BIG NEW STORE FOR WIEBOLDT ON WEST SIDE

To Have 400 Ft. Front on Ashland Ave.

BY AL CHASE.
Chicago's west side is to have a huge, brand new nine story department store, to be one of the finest in the city, and which, it is announced, eventually will represent an investment of $4,000,000 in land and building.

W. A. Wieboldt & Co., who already have two big outlying department stores, have acquired all but one small lot in the block bounded by Ashland, Ogden, Monroe, and Adams, and expect to start work this summer on their third and largest store. It will be open for business early in the summer of 1925.

To Have 400 Foot Frontage.
Graham, Anderson, Probst & White have drawn plans for a building to have a frontage of 400 feet on Ashland, between Monroe and Adams; a frontage of 155 on Monroe, 200 on Ogden, and the same on Adams. The southwest part of the block will be held for future expansion.

Foundations for nine stories will be put in, but the entire building will not be erected at once. Probably the Monroe street frontage will go the proposed height limit, but the balance will be considerably less until business demands more space. J. T. Steuer of Naumann & Steuer was broker in the purchase of the site.

Seals Rumors at Rest.
Disclosure of the Wieboldt plans settles the flock of rumors which have hung over the district ever since purchases began. In addition to buying the site the Wieboldt interests have purchased various properties in the vicinity, all of which caused much speculation as to what was going on.

Senate Passes $736,000,000 Postal Appropriation Bill

Washington, D. C., March 7.—The treasury, postoffice department appropriation bill, carrying $736,000,000, was passed today by the senate. A committee amendment allotting $300,000 for continuance of the air mail service between New York and San Francisco was approved.

400 IN MIDWEST COLLEGES PREY TO PACIFIST GERM

N. U. Girl Leader Agrees to 2 Weeks' Truce.

The thirty-eight Northwestern university students who recently announced their intention of avoiding military service in future wars are members of a pacifist movement rapidly gaining strength in middle western colleges. At least 400 men and women attending Mississippi valley schools have openly taken such pledges.

The growing influence of these college "pinks" became common gossip yesterday at both Northwestern university and the University of Chicago following a meeting of the "thirty-eight" and others in Evanston on Thursday night. The knowledge that groups had been established in other colleges caused considerable comment in fraternal houses, in lecture hall, and on the campus.

Honor Girl Is Leader.
It was learned that at a recent convention of the Student Volunteer movement in Indianapolis, Ind., which was attended by 7,000 students from a score of schools, 400 men and women raised their hands and forever renounced the khaki as fitting covering for their bodies. The convention, held six weeks ago, was attended by a student representation from midwestern schools and was governed almost entirely by these students.

Meanwhile it was whispered that Miss Alice Hansen, winner of the Kirk prize for oratory at Northwestern during this, her senior year, was one of the ringleaders of the pacifist movement. Miss Hansen, "one of the biggest women in school this year," admitted she was a ringleader. She asserted she was a strong pacifist and had been an earnest worker in the Indianapolis convention.

"Drops" More for Two Weeks.
Miss Hansen, having a great influence among the "thirty-eight," yesterday interviewed James Armstrong, dean of men.

Following the conference she announced that the pacifist movement at Northwestern was going to "drop" for at least two weeks. It was explained that the endowment drive being conducted by the school might suffer from further activities and that all "work" it will be dropped until the campaign was completed.

Miss Hansen gave her reasons for being a pacifist.

"I cannot be well told in the non-elastic columns of a newspaper," she said. "But I'll tell my reasons briefly: First, war is the result of an economic situation. Purely that. Wars are caused by money lords who quarrel over the world's market places. Second, there is no reason, no excuse, no use for war. The good war does not overwhelmingly outweigh the harm it wreaks. Third, I am a Christian."

She asked that it be explained to the public that there was no "fight" at the Thursday night meeting.

"We assembled to hear John Fletcher talk," she said. "The thirty-eight and several hundred other students attended. Mr. Fletcher's talk contained no dynamite. Fact is, it was a bit quiet and slow. The whole evening was quiet, and there was no riot. No eggs were thrown."

Miss Mildred Wilkinson, a student at the University of Chicago, denied there was any tangible organization of pacifists on the Midway.

"Some of our students attended the Indianapolis meeting, and some attended the lecture by John Fletcher in the Temple building last Tuesday," she said. "But I cannot say that there is any real organization. I do know several students are in accord with the movement."

Students at Miami college in Ohio and Ames college in Iowa have heard of the movement, and a dozen or more from each school were among the 400 who swore fealty to the pacifist cause in Indianapolis.

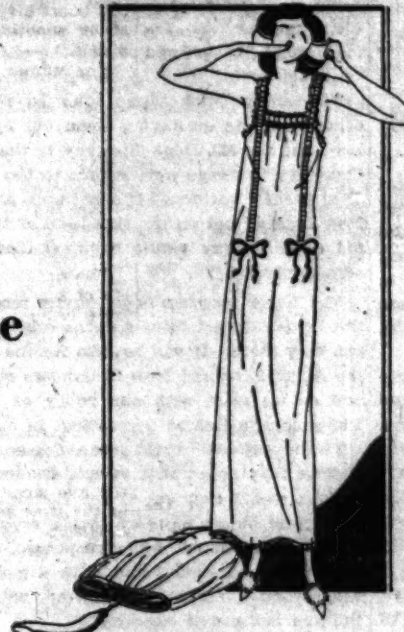

Concern at the growing movement was expressed last night by the Rev. George Craig Stewart, pastor of St. Luke's Episcopal church of Evanston and a trustee of Northwestern university.

"Of course, I believe the majority of the pacifists might weaken and join the army if their horses were ever violated by an enemy," he said. "But I find the students are unusually sincere. I suppose it is a natural reaction from the war, but I am impressed by their enthusiasm. They will find out there are some things better than peace, and some things worse than war, and perhaps after they grow older they will change their minds."

THE CONSCRIPT FATHERS HAVE A FIT.

President Coolidge sent two telegrams to Edward B. McLean, who owns the Washington Post and the Cincinnati Enquirer. Mr. McLean is in Palm Beach enjoying himself, an undoubtedly solvent citizen with yacht and stately pleasure domes in Florida. He has a weakness which is common to us all. He likes to have a President call him by his first name, and some have.

The Post is almost an official record of Washington. Nearly everybody there reads it to find out what's going on in social life, official life, etc. In one telegram to Mr. McLean the President asked him to find out from Stimp, his secretary, who was somewhere in Florida, whom he should consult regarding a District of Columbia matter, in the absence of Freese, the Republican city chairman.

In the other telegram the President said "thank you" to a telegram from McLean congratulating him on his statement in reply to the senate demand for the head of Demby.

At the reading of these telegrams the senate became solemn, white-faced, and shaky in the knees. The conscript fathers caught their breath and were filled with dismay. Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi, who has the deep emotional nature of an eye-balled poker player, arose and said "My God" for about two columns. Senator Harrison would rather be sucker enough to bet 16 to 1 on Jean Willard against Dempsey than to take himself seriously, but he was in the market place tearing his clothes and sitting in sackcloth and ashes.

These telegrams, he thought, would make the people "shudder, tremble, and lose confidence in this government of ours."

The conscript fathers all were staggered, but there is stout stuff in that rock-bound Puritan grandeur, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, and although his voice trembled and obviously he didn't think he would gain much yardage, he took the ball.

Mr. Lodge said that Mr. Coolidge was an honorable man whose life had been simple, a man of modest means who came from a farm in Vermont. In private and in public life he had been above reproach. In his present difficult situation, with the expression of every day, with a new load of trouble he had not ordered, he was leaving himself, wisely, demily, and with dignity. It was an eloquent plea that the country withhold judgment, that the senate respect the dignity of the presidency, and that Americans cling to the faith of their fathers.

We're still wondering what the shooting was all about. We do not know what McLean may have been up to in the oil business or anything else focusing in Washington, but if the senate is to have a fit over two such telegrams as the President sent him it is time for the nurses and keepers to rally around.

Senator Pat Harrison enjoyed it as a good bit of high comedy. He knows that if any one steps on a loose board the senate leaps for the rafters. His nerves are jumpy. There was a time in the Illinois legislature when all a joker had to do was to think two silver dollars behind the ear of a statesman to cause a commotion.

What if the President did give McLean the courtesy of a reply to a compliment? What if he did ask him to get in touch with Stimp? If it is dishonorable to be courteous to a newspaper publisher or to ask one a question, we're greater patriots than we thought we were. Probably it was just as well to come down to earth and get our shirts back where they belong.

WHEN TAXES IMPERIL PROSPERITY.

Scrutator, one of THE TRIBUNE'S special writers on business affairs, reports a marked increase in the amounts of insurance policies recently written, and now being written, in this country, and explains it as due in large part to high inheritance taxes. That is a logical explanation, at least of policies running into six figures or more. The revelation which it makes ought to command the attention of those members of congress who are now seeking to increase the inheritance tax schedule to 40 per cent or higher on large estates.

Both insurance and inheritance taxes are good things in principle and practice, up to a certain point, but both may be overdone. Insurance is valuable to society in so far as it reasonably protects the future of individuals or business concerns. It becomes of less value to society in general as it approaches the point where premiums to maintain it are paid at the sacrifice of business investment and advancement. Inheritance taxes are valuable to society in so far as they provide federal revenue from sources best able to pay. They may, perhaps, be valuable in so far as they take from unproductive heirs a considerable portion of the wealth which they did not earn and which they cannot administer productively.

But they become less valuable, and even dangerous, as they approach the point of discouraging incentive for accumulation of large fortunes, or, in other words, the point of confiscation. At that point they impose a penalty upon productive enterprise which threatens not only the capital itself but the source of federal income revenue.

Very wealthy men, who wish to leave their fortune as nearly intact as possible, buy large insurance policies, in part to provide for payment of inheritance taxes so that the estate proper may be comparatively unimpaired. Premiums on such large policies take income which normally would go into business development. Of course the insurance companies reinvest it, but so conservatively and under such property restrictive regulations as to stimulate only a few lines of business activity. That is a handicap to industrial expansion. It reveals one of the numerous dangers of raising inheritance taxes to a confiscatory point.

THE RECREONAL.

Ramsey MacDonald's Labor government announces that it has been officially decided not to go ahead with the Singapore naval base. This decision has been transmitted to the dominions, of which Australia and New Zealand are most concerned, and when their comments, if any, have been received, parliament will be advised. It may accept or it may turn the Labor government out.

When the Washington treaties were negotiated, the line in the Pacific within which no further fortifications were to be allowed, was drawn at the 110th parallel of longitude. That was purposely selected to permit the building of the great British base at Singapore, just outside it, for the control of the east, India, Egypt, etc., and for the protection of Australia.

The British thus gave up Hongkong, virtually, and retired farther from Japan's sphere, just as the United States agreed not to fortify Guam, a spearhead at Japan, or to increase the fortifications of the Philippines. For the British it was a change of base but not a withdrawal from the east. The MacDonald plan is a withdrawal and it is a deliberate one, partly for economy, but that is negligible in the purpose. The policy is anti-imperial and it contains the idea of stopping the roll of the British drum and of bringing the colors home.

The marshall, might, soon be cutting each other's throats or having them cut by the populace, but the MacDonaldites say in that matter as the British say with regard to the Philippines. That is their business. It also leaves Australia and New Zealand out on the thin ice and Mr. MacDonald does not say whose business that is. Their own, probably.

The Labor program is an empire recreational. If the British desire from Asia no other written long can stay there. It will be Asia for the Americas, as the Australians and New Zealanders may discover and as we may, with our policy of holding the Philippines, a lighted firecracker, in our hand.

The recreational world means the end of empire and we may doubt that even a commonwealth of nations would remain. Great Britain might continue to be happy, at peace with every one, trading everywhere, peaceful and prosperous, with every workman in a good home, with a good wage envelope and a number of healthy, well-nourished children being well educated.

Labor may say that Denmark is happier than Great Britain and proves that illusions of grandeur are poor cures for slums and degraded rural communities. Labor is a minority, Singapore is a major issue. Mr. Asquith and his Liberals may take this opportunity to shake Mr. MacDonald by the hand, with him well and throw him out of office.

CHICAGO MUST SPEND MORE MONEY.

The board of local improvements is in trouble over the proposed widening and boulevarding of La Salle street from Randolph street to Lincoln park. The trouble is financial. President Sloan of the board tells the council finance committee that the public benefit from the complete improvement will be approximately $2,500,000. That means that much of the expense must be financed by the city, and the aldermen say the corporate fund cannot stand the expense.

A lesser improvement, providing for the widening only as far north as Ohio street, is suggested, with a public benefit estimated at from $2,500,000 to $3,000,000. It is doubtful that the corporate fund can even meet that requirement. The bridge has been provided for through recent approval of a bond issue. But the bridge without the street widening would be of comparatively little benefit.

It begins to appear that Chicago must arrange for improved sources of revenue. The city's development is being held back, and its general prosperity, which ought to make taxpaying easier, even though heavier, is being retarded by this obstacle. A widened La Salle street and a La Salle street bridge would greatly reduce congestion in the downtown district, and save many minutes a day for hundreds of thousands of Chicago residents. Those minutes have both a direct and an indirect value. They ought to be saved. They can't be saved without spending money. We haven't the money to spend. We ought to get it. It can be done. Let's go.

The Other Side

DISCRIMINATORY LEGISLATION.
(Milwaukee-Kurjer-Polski.)

The Johnson Immigration bill which seeks to restrict immigration from various countries on the basis of 3 per cent of the number of any nationality in this country at the time of the 1910 census, is the most discriminatory piece of legislation that has been proposed in recent years.

The law now in effect, which was adopted in 1907 as an emergency measure, at a time when unemployment was prevalent and the need for immigration restriction was justifiable on economic grounds, provides for a 2 per cent restriction on the basis of the 1910 census.

Whatever the percentage of restriction, if based upon the 1920 census the various nationalities in question would have no just cause for complaint against the quotas allowed them; on the contrary they would, of Americans, give the new immigration bill their hearty support.

But the Johnson bill, which unfortunately was passed by a majority of the members of the house immigration committee and is now pending in congress, goes back for a basis of computation to the 1910 census, and provides for a 2 per cent restriction. Assuming that a decrease of immigration is necessary (which we do not believe), adoption of the 1920 census as a basis is obviously unjust, unfair, and discriminatory, and its enactment will be an insult to all but two of the nationalities affected by the proposed bill.

If immigration must be restricted let it be done on a basis of equality to all and favoritism to none, and any bill conceived in this spirit will undoubtedly meet with widespread support and approval.

FOOD FUZZERS.
D O N'T you child fuss about his food? If so, take step No. 1. Send 5 cents to the Mammochetta Mental Hygiene society, 5 Joy street, Boston, Mass., for their latest on the subject, "Food Fuzzers."

When you get it, take step No. 2. That is, read it carefully. Then take step No. 3. That is, apply what you have read to yourself, your child and, in some small measure, to the food.

In the first place, you will read that it may be your fault or it may be that you do not feed him wisely, which may also be your fault. Under each of these heads there are four subheads. One is: "Is some one else in the family very particular about eating?" Of course, a child likes to imitate what older people do. This ability and desire to imitate starts very early in life. Had I been preparing this charge against the parent, I think I would have added another, "Pinnickness is inherited." The children and grandchildren of finicky people are either apt to be finicky or they are apt to train themselves in just the opposite direction.

The third heading is: "Maybe this is a warning that his nervous system is not working normally." Possibly he sleeps poorly, is irritable, or has violent tempers or strange fears.

The fourth heading relates to the effects of the emotions on the appetite and digestion. "A child who is angry, fearful, or worried can not digest his food properly. Do not insist that a child eat while he is disturbed by emotions. Get him quiet and then feed him. In persuading children to eat, it is inadvisable to have scenes. It is inadvisable to suggest doubts. A child is quick to refuse if he senses that he is expected to refuse, or fear that he will refuse. He is apt to eat what is offered him in a matter-of-fact way. There are cravings that are based upon hunger for salt, or for other food substances, but most of the finicky appetites are the result of emotional instability and wrong habits.

BABY IS DOING WELL.
Mrs. E. H. writes: My baby boy is 7 months old and I would like to know what to give him to eat. He weighed 8 pounds at birth and now weighs 16. He is 5 months old and has gained a half pound a week, but now he does not gain much. He has no teeth as yet. I nurse him.

Mrs. V. writes: Our baby, aged 3 months, is cutting his first tooth. It is not a front tooth, but an upper back tooth. Kindly tell me this is all right. This is against the rule. He is cutting teeth about the age of 12 months. Investigation will probably show that he is breaking other rules.

RENT IS RAISED.
Chicago, March 8.—(To the Legal Friend of the People.)—On Oct. 1, 1923, my father signed a year's lease for a flat from a man who a month later sold it. Then, October, 1923, there was no lease signed; it was agreed with both parties to stay and with privileges of moving out May 1, if needed. Now he sends in a demand for rent, claiming that the lease is still in effect. Can he make us pay the rent? Can he collect rent if we move out and he doesn't rent it to another party?

Where a tenant under a lease for a definite term holds over beyond the term and the landlord accepts additional rent, the circumstances in the absence of other circumstances, constitute a contract on the part of the landlord to let the tenant remain in the premises until the lease term expires. The tenant may then terminate the lease by giving notice of his intention to do so. Can he collect rent if we move out and he doesn't rent it to another party?

NEW YORK DIVORCE.

CAIRO, ILL.—Conflicting rumors concerning Sherman's expedition. It is reported and generally believed in official circles that the expedition is on its way to Vicksburg. Rebel rumors say Col. Ford was killed in a battle on the expedition.

WASHINGTON.—Gen. Meade was examined before the commission on the conduct of the battle of Gettysburg. He denied in toto the charges of Gen. Sickles and Doubleday. It is stated authoritatively that the order to retreat after the first day's battle was issued before Gen. Meade reached Gettysburg and knew the strong position of the Union troops.

NEW YORK.—The London Post says Paris reports are still more pessimistic than those from London. It says that negotiations are progressing between France and England for a joint recognition of the southern confederacy.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

NOW THAT YOU ARE GONE.
Heavily, the black mantle of your absence settles down on me.
"What-did-she-say?" the green memory parrot perches chattering on my nose.
For your words, slipping the leash
Of their jangled half-hour chain,
Lustrous, indelible as pearls,
Now that you are gone
Are merely words again—
PUNY.

HO HUM! We're getting all fed up with the untimely taking off of Mr. Duffy, the oil investigator, is quite boring, we don't seem to care whether Mr. McGadoo runs for President of the United States or assistant keeper of the dog pound, and we effish a yawn when we read that several congressmen are accused of graft. Wonder how long it will be before something interesting happens?

TO MARIAN, MADEIRA, COSETTE, THE CAPTIVE, ETC., ETC.
Yes, verily, ye are beautiful. Granted. Heller of Troy had nothing on any of ye! Thy wit is supreme, thy forms of art divine—thine eyes reflect the whims and fancies of thy soul, and, like Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, they are holy one moment and wicked the next. And yet—ever as Solomon—he being weary of the ceaseless and never ending patter of his many wives—extolling to him their many virtues, raised his hands to heaven and exclaimed: "Vanity, thy name is woman," or words to that effect. So I do likewise; and so doing muse on the possibility that some fair Queen—some other Sheba—will come over the Desert and make of me a living example of the theory that man descended from monkeys, even as did our ancestors. Do you get what I mean? In spite of all this the quest goes on!

LET'S PRAY IT'S LUCK.
Dear R.H.L.: My boss' correspondence tells me there's a bird out in California named Mr. Warm-bath. I wish his first name were Luke—I wish I could tell you it was Luke, anyway; but what with Washington's birthday just over I can't do it. I hope, however, that you will let me in, even though his first name is only Sam. DOLLY ANN.

SHORT STORIES.
The reporter for the bar-ex-rushed breathlessly in, and a small book on the editors' desk. Wrote this, said the editor. Her diary, and the reporter. Aw, tell with it, and the editor toting it in a waist-bag.

WHY, MILTON B., the ideal! Is there really such a thing as an M T A pin? Oh, for the crying out loud! There certainly is a Made the Line fraternity pin, and your conductor wears his for the first time this very afternoon, when he goes up to Evanston to talk to the girls of Theta Sigma Phi and show them how very different and vastly more beautiful is the pin of M T A than that of Theta Sigma Phi, which they vainly insisted M T A had swiped.

FAME.
(To The King of the Black Isles.)
Do you remember the days
You spent in dreaming
Beautiful poems?
To have them returned to you
By others that had not
The gift the gods bestowed on you?
Remember the days
You spent in thinking.
What was wrong?
And just what had to do
To get the others to appreciate
The poems that were so real to you?
Fame and fortune are smiling on you,
But do not let them take you
From your vantage of black aisles.
Where you spent your days in dreaming
Of beautiful ladies, the War,
The Sea, and blue skies.

NO DOUBT YOU WILL BE DINED AND JETED
As befitting any King,
New friends will seek you,
Tangle you in better things,
But the happiest of things for you were—
When you were trying to Make the Line.

MAKE AMERICAN IMMIGRATION LAWS FOR AMERICA.
Chicago, March 2.—There is so much common-sense about other countries complaining about our immigration restrictions. When our ancestors threw off the British yoke, they were not so much as a man 40 years of age who has all the insurance now that he can carry? How will it pay the soldier? It will be no good after he is gone. They forced us to take insurance during the war; also forced us to buy Liberty bonds at 100 and sell them when we got out for 94 and 96 in order to get a little money. If insurance is the best they can do let them save the expense. Give us the cash or land—something that will do us some good while we are on earth.

RENT HOGS.
Maywood, Ill., March 2.—Regarding the rent hog proposition, I am surprised that a newspaper supposed to be for the public would come out in a Sunday headline saying "Rents to Be Raised." That certainly started trouble all over the thought of raising rents, after seeing that headline, we were encouraged to do so. I am one of the sufferers, and now that I cannot pay I will have to find another place where I live now was raised in four years from $24 to $65. Is this not outrageous? It is about time that these things were taken care of and some of the rent hogs and profiteers punished. Crooked builders robbing the public on building their little homes at high prices and big profits for themselves, which the poor little man with a family has to scratch and scrape for almost a lifetime.

AS TO THE BRITISH WEST INDIES.
Chicago, March 1.—The real motive behind our editorial of Feb. 25 concerning the British West Indies is rather obscure. It was evidently penned by a hyphenated American, who is probably using the columns of your journal for the purpose of spreading false propaganda and to create an unfriendly feeling between English speaking peoples.

The fact that the islands in question are separated from America by a few miles of sea is no reason why they should come under the American government. Canada and Mexico adjoin America, but that is no argument why they should come under the American government. To say the West Indies are of no use to America is misleading; they are equally as useful to Britain as they would be to America. To contend that they are held by Britain as a base in case of war between America and Britain is equally as misleading; they are held by Britain as a base in case of war between America and Britain.

A GIFT TO BUSINESSMEN, WHY NOT TO VETERANS?
Pekin, Ill., March 1.—Is it not possible that a skillfully planned campaign has achieved its objective, and the dear people are thoroughly convinced that Washington is yielding to their demands for tax reduction, granted them at the expense of the adjusted compensation law, whereas there was no great popular clamor for income tax reduction, but Washington, recognizing that adjusted compensation must be beaten, and tax reduction was the only way to beat it.

It would not be the first time that cause has been mistaken for effect as regards the country's war-wounded. Now our captains of industry will naturally accept the cut in their taxes, giving meanwhile because the dollar-denominated tourists of 1917-18 must be denied the adjustment, promising that the unemployed by both parties since 1918.

A candidly believes that a correct interpretation of the mental processes of those who are responsible for failure to adjust compensation law, and who would show him thinking that with the country in its present state of prosperity the passage of adjusted compensation was inevitable. These heroic measures were taken, and that the best method this time would be to take the position of recognizing a universal demand for reduction of the tax rates.

Today's papers tell us that the house has passed the revenue bill, including therein a provision for a 25 per cent cut in taxes for 1923, payable this month. If this gift is made to the successful men of the country (for successful men are not much concerned about income tax) it will clearly be out of the question for the government to make good its pledge to the ex-servicemen. It was all right to be good in 1917, 1918, and 1919, but why make it permanent?

A Republican who wants to continue to be one.
AMERICA WAS NOT MADE BY FOREIGNERS.
Hartford, Conn., March 2.—Louis E. Gella is wrong—America was not "made by foreigners."

When the early Pilgrims and Puritans landed on these shores they had already severed themselves from foreign institutions. They were aliens of the despot day before they had embarked from the other lands. They were already Americans in spirit. And they were assimilated before they too, had left their former countries.

To become an American does not mean to reside within the United States; it means to possess the franchise of citizenship; to be a real American means to breathe the spirit of America, to live that spirit. There may be some nationalities that can change their instincts and diverse themselves from their natural habits, but who are they? Has America ever had more than one Carl Schurz from Germany? Citizens or not, to every real American there are instincts—instincts to the spirit of America. The right to vote does not confer the right of American baptism. It should!

Do you think that a man born in Russia, India, could become a citizen of America? Could a man born in Russia, India, or France, or even England or Ireland, come to the land known as America, and live the spirit of real America? GRIDLEY ADAMS.

BOCCANEERS OF U.S. BOOZE FIGHT IN BRITISH COURT

Mutiny, Battles, Bribe on Rum Row.

BY PAUL WILLIAMS.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
LONDON, March 7.—Another chapter in the long fight of the U.S. against the rum trade in the British West Indies, which has been a London court today.

The telling of the lively tale, the last voyage of the schooner, which brought the rum trade to the court, was a story of mutiny, battles, and bribery on Rum Row.

The schooner Mary Elizabeth was loaded, but Campbell decided not to sail her over. He placed Capt. Horn in charge and

BOCCANEERS OF U. S. BOOZE FIGHT IN BRITISH COURT

Mutiny, Battles, Bribes on Rum Row.

BY PAUL WILLIAMS.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
LONDON, March 7.—Another quarrel among British knights of the Rum Row, "Buccaneers to His Excellency," the British knight, was heard in a London court today.

And the telling of the lively tale of the last voyage of the schooner Mary Elizabeth brought a riotous outburst from the floor of Justice Evans, who was told the story in his wig and ermine robes, similar to those which judges wear two centuries ago. Then they roared and banged pipes for tea.

After nights of waiting aboard a ship off the coast of New York, a dispute over the spoils, mutiny and attempted robbery by bootleggers who tried to blackmail him out of the tens of thousands of dollars which they had paid for the whiskey.

Smuggle by Air.
Winnipeg, Man., March 7.—An aerial liquor smuggling system, in which at least three planes are believed to have been used, was uncovered by the customs officials at Waugh today, when they found an abandoned airplane fitted with runners for landing on ice and equipped to carry freight.

Another plane, which the police think, figures in the rum running, was forced to land forty miles from Waugh not long after the first had been seized, while a third is believed to have succeeded in reaching United States territory.

The authorities expressed the opinion that a syndicate in Minneapolis and St. Paul was directing the smuggling operations. Six men, thought to have been operating the plane found at Waugh, escaped, but later the police confessed fifteen cases of whiskey consigned to them at the St. Paul station. The liquor had been purchased through regular channels.

Mutiny and Murder.
Campbell did not return with her, but entered the United States without a passport. From New York, he sent the shipper $42,000.

Campbell asserts that this contract was not binding because it constituted "conspiracy and joint adventure to defraud," and with a view to profit, violate the prohibition laws of the United States. He said that the crew was drunk, mutinous and engaged in thieving.

The cardinal-elect planned to spend the month of May in Rome and then tour Europe until the opening of the eucharistic congress at Amsterdam, Holland, in July. Information was received yesterday that the records in the cases of each world war prisoner undertaken by the adjutant general's office in response to the request of Representative Moore are rapidly approaching completion. Reports from the adjutant general's office, and possibly those of the navy department on the cases of naval prisoners may be ready by tomorrow or Monday. He has requested the war department to advise him as soon as the reports from Maj. Ross are received on the cases of military prisoners reviewed by them.

BOOZE BY AIR

This map shows the route of the airplane bootlegging outfit, which was on an obscure hamlet a few miles north of Uncle Sam's Canadian farm, on Lake of the Woods.

ing. He asserted that at times blood was spilled and in the criminal court of Halifax, the captain and mate charged some members of the crew with attempted murder.

Campbell states that during this bootlegging enterprise money often passed without proper check or voucher, sometimes for sales and sometimes for bribes and counter bribes. While in New York and other American cities he says he had to protect himself from robbery by bootleggers who tried to blackmail him out of the tens of thousands of dollars which they had paid for the whiskey.

Smuggle by Air.
Winnipeg, Man., March 7.—An aerial liquor smuggling system, in which at least three planes are believed to have been used, was uncovered by the customs officials at Waugh today, when they found an abandoned airplane fitted with runners for landing on ice and equipped to carry freight.

Another plane, which the police think, figures in the rum running, was forced to land forty miles from Waugh not long after the first had been seized, while a third is believed to have succeeded in reaching United States territory.

The authorities expressed the opinion that a syndicate in Minneapolis and St. Paul was directing the smuggling operations. Six men, thought to have been operating the plane found at Waugh, escaped, but later the police confessed fifteen cases of whiskey consigned to them at the St. Paul station. The liquor had been purchased through regular channels.

Despondent Woman Ends Life by Poison in Hotel

Mutiny and Murder.
Campbell did not return with her, but entered the United States without a passport. From New York, he sent the shipper $42,000.

Campbell asserts that this contract was not binding because it constituted "conspiracy and joint adventure to defraud," and with a view to profit, violate the prohibition laws of the United States. He said that the crew was drunk, mutinous and engaged in thieving.

By one close to Archbishop G. W. Mundelein that the archbishop had known for some time that the red hat was to be bestowed upon him at the Easter consistory in Rome and preparations for his trip had been made with this in view.

"This is the explanation," our informant said, "of the appointment of Bishop Edward F. Hoban as vicar general of the Chicago archdiocese a few weeks ago."

The cardinal-elect planned to spend the month of May in Rome and then tour Europe until the opening of the eucharistic congress at Amsterdam, Holland, in July. The earlier date of the consistory will enable him to spend Holy Week in Rome and participate in the splendid ceremonies of the church at St. Peter's.

LEGION IN TOUCH WITH SOLDIERS HELD IN PRISON

Washington, D. C., March 7.—[Special.]—The American Legion is in touch with the investigation now under way by officers of the adjutant general and judge advocate general of the War Department, Commander Quinn (Rep., Ill.), and prefers to withhold comment on the situation until reports are received from these investigations.

Quinn, until these reports have been received and communicated to the secretary of war, Commander Quinn is not ready to state whether or not he would consider necessary or advisable a congressional or other civilian review of the cases of the world war prisoners.

Ex-Servicemen in Accord.
This statement from Commander Quinn confirms the reply received by Representative Moore from the national adjutant at Indianapolis, whom a telegram was sent several days ago requesting an expression of the Legion's attitude toward the proposed investigation. It represents also the position taken by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, headed by Col. Lloyd M. Brett. Officers of both organizations express cordial approval of the spirit in which the investigation is being conducted by Maj. Standish and Maj. Ross, whose reports they believe should be considered before any further steps are taken in the matter.

To the Purchasers of Lumber in Chicago and Cook County:
The Chicago morning papers of March 6th and 7th report the indictment, by the Grand Jury of Cook County, of officials of a lumber company operating in Chicago, for conspiracy to defraud, the specific allegation being, apparently, that the lumber company was guilty of systematic shortages in deliveries.

For years our Association has fought against such practices as are charged. In many instances it is difficult for the purchaser to check deliveries, and correct deliveries rest largely, in such cases, upon the honesty and reliability of the lumber dealer.

The company involved in the reported indictment is not and never has been a member of the Chicago Retail Lumber Dealers Association.

BUSY TIMES FOR MUNDELEIN AND HAYES IN ROME

ROME, March 7.—[By Associated Press.]—Strenuous days lie ahead for Archbishop Hayes and Archbishop Mundelein on their arrival in Rome to be accorded the high recognition that the Catholic church is to bestow upon them—elevations to the cardinalate.

Numerous formalities are to be exchanged by the American prelates, such as visits and receptions, prior to the secret consistory on March 24, when they will be elevated to the cardinalate, and the public consistory on March 27, when they will formally receive their red hats.

Then, after the last consistory, there is to be the ceremony of giving the new cardinals possession of their titular churches, which usually is an elaborate function attended by the prelates of the papal court, other high church dignitaries, the hundreds of Americans making up the American colony, and throngs of tourists who invade Rome on such occasions.

DUTY ON WHEAT IS INCREASED BY THE PRESIDENT

Washington, D. C., March 7.—[Special.]—The first changes in duties made under the flexible tariff since the passage of the Fordney-McCumber tariff law in September, 1922, were announced tonight by President Coolidge in a proclamation affecting wheat, flour and wheat by-products. Changes made are as follows:

An increase in the duty on wheat from 36 cents to 42 cents a bushel.

An increase in the duty on wheat flour, semolina, crushed or cracked wheat, and similar wheat products not specially provided for from 17 cents to $1.04 a hundred pounds.

A decrease in the duty on bran, shorts, and by-product feeds obtained in milling wheat from 15 to 7½ per cent ad valorem.

The changes in duties will take effect in thirty days.

The changes in duties followed recommendations by the tariff commission, which conducted an investigation at the request of the President.

PRESIDENT O. K.'S CUT IN INCOME TAXES FOR 1923

Foes of the Mellon Plan Oppose Action.

BY GRAFTON WILCOX.

Washington, D. C., March 7.—[Special.]—President Coolidge today gave his approval to the plan of administration leaders in congress to pass a resolution before March 15 providing for a 25 per cent reduction in the tax on incomes for 1923.

The President authorized the announcement that he favored such a course, but said he had taken no active steps to bring about such legislation. According to a White House spokesman, the President thinks, however, that it would be desirable to pass such a resolution before March 15, when first payments on incomes of 1923 are due.

Would Aid Credit Situation.
President Coolidge believes it was well that affording an opportunity to the public to make a 25 per cent reduction in their income taxes at once would contribute to an easing up of the credit situation which is always affected at the time of income tax payments and to the general welfare.

Action on the proposal was not taken by the ways and means committee at its meeting today because of opposition on the part of some element in the Republican party who felt that such a resolution would give the President a good excuse to veto the tax reduction bill now being considered by the senate finance committee. Republicans opposed to the Mellon bill feel that if the reduction on taxes is paid this year is provided for in a separate resolution, the President could veto the reduction bill without risking any popular resentment.

Want Reduction in General Bill.
Those who hold this view want the reduction for this year's payments included in the general bill in order to make it more difficult for the President to veto it.

The issue of the bonus also enters into the matter, some of the bonus advocates wanting to hold out on approving the proposal until certain that sufficient funds are in sight to finance the veterans' compensation. The ways and means committee expects to act tomorrow on the proposal.

The administrative provisions approved today include those relating to returns of payments of dividends, returns of brokers, information at source, publication of statistics, collection of foreign items, collection of taxes from citizens of possessions of the United States, special provisions relating to Porto Rico and the Philippine Islands, income from sources within the possessions of the United States, China, trade corporations, payment, collection and refund of tax penalties, examination of returns, and determination of tax overpayments and deficiencies in tax.

ON TIME OR PAY
FINE, SAM WARNS
Pay your income tax before March 15, regardless of reports from Washington, or nothing can save you from a 25 per cent fine for failure to file on time. Pay one-quarterly installment or pay all—but pay. Be sure to pay before the zero hour or you will lose the benefit of the 25 per cent emergency decrease which congress has promised you.

This was the advice yesterday of Mabel G. Reinecke, Chicago collector of internal revenue, as she faced with dismay the fact that out of more than 100,000 persons due to pay, only 54,192 have filed so far this year. The office of the income tax department in the federal building was quiet. There were no throngs seeking information and waiting in line to pay, as there have been in other years.

"I don't know why people are holding off this year," Mrs. Reinecke said. "It must be because of reports which have come from Washington. I believe these have misled people. They think they may be relieved entirely of the 1923 tax when the fact is that nothing on earth will relieve them entirely."

"The truth is that the 25 per cent cut promised as an emergency measure is all the cut they will get, and my advice to them is to file their returns and pay at least one quarterly installment before March 15 or neither I nor any one else can stop them from being penalized."

When two men locked Paul Antonovich, a butcher, 1216 South Jefferson street, into the icebox for an hour Thursday he caught a cold. He said he was forced to take to his bed and the hot water bottle. Twenty-four hours later he reported to the police that the men took $80 from the cash register.

INSURANCE MADE CHIEF FEATURE OF BONUS BILL

House to Demand
Cash Alternative.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)

Washington, D. C., March 7.—[Special.]—By a practically unanimous vote the committee on ways and means today decided to incorporate in the soldiers' bonus bill, soon to be reported to the house, a provision authorizing the insurance of endowment insured to veterans of the world war. The committee rejected the proposal for vocational education and aid in home building as alternative options.

A disagreement was reached to vote tomorrow on a motion made by Representative Oldfield (Dem., Ark.) providing that cash should be paid to soldiers who preferred such an adjustment in lieu of endowment insurance.

Vote Will Be Close.
It was on motion of Representative Bacharach (Rep., N. J.) that the committee recorded itself in favor of endowment insurance as one of the major provisions of the bonus bill.

Just what action the committee will take on the recommendation of Mr. Oldfield that the bill authorize the payment of cash to a maximum of $500 for home service and $625 for foreign service is uncertain. The vote on this proposition will be close.

The exact form of the insurance plan was not determined at today's session. Consideration was given to a recommendation to insure to a maximum of $500 for home service and $625 for foreign service. The vote on this proposition will be close.

Maximum Policy, $1,000.
The maximum value of a policy issued under this plan to a soldier who served in this country would approximate $1,000. The maximum for a soldier who saw service abroad would be about $1,400. It has been estimated by actuaries, according to Mr. Bacharach, that this plan would ultimately cost $2,000,000,000.

Representative Bacharach will urge the committee to authorize the placing of this insurance with old insurance corporations. He believes this would be better than to leave the work to a government insurance bureau.

WOMEN'S CLUBS TO HELP CITY'S PORTRAIT FUND

Washington Picture Is Needed, Plea.

Although no direct requests have been sent to women's organizations in Chicago, dozens of them are responding to the general appeal for funds to purchase the famous Gilbert Stuart painting of Washington. Numerous women's clubs have written in to the Art Institute commending the enterprise and inclosing checks, according to Director Robert B. Harbes.

Now the women will be asked to cooperate by forming committees and actively entering the campaign.

Chicago Needs Portrait.
Not only does Chicago desire this famous portrait, but it also needs it, Mr. Harbes said.

"Chicago could not let this splendid portrait of Washington leave the city," he explained. "We have too few worthy portraits of great Americans who by their character and deeds have built themselves into the structure of our republic. No one can look upon the serene face of Washington as shown in the Stuart canvas without experiencing a new love for our country and a new dedication of himself to its service."

The public schools are now making their returns to the fund in earnest. One check for $440.18 was received yesterday from district No. 7, which includes the Haven, Garfield, Smith, Madill High, Cooper, Jungman, Dante, Walsh, Healy, Mark Sheridan, Haines, Foster, Holden, Douglas, Webster, Mosely, Komenky, Whittier, Swing, Keith, Froebel, Jirka, Ward, Armour, Greens, Drake, and Goodrich schools.

These returns will acknowledge and turn over to the Art Institute all contributions sent to it.

ARMED SLUGGERS BEAT HEAD OF DRESS FACTORY

Leonard Wolman, a dress manufacturer at 317 South Market street, was slugged yesterday by two men while in the garage at the rear of his home at 3140 Palmer square, according to Attorney Le Bocky, representing the dress manufacturer in the strike now in progress. The lawyer said one of the men held a revolver against the manufacturer's side and the other beat him with a blackjack.

He also declared that sluggers are now visiting the homes of nonunion workers and beating their wives, and that two such sluggings took place during the day.

Slugging of workers continued during the day despite an injunction issued by Judge Denis E. Sullivan which prohibited strike sympathizers from picketing or molesting employees of open shop dress manufacturers. Andrew Cutler, who remained at work when the strike was called, was blackballed at noon. His assailant escaped in a touring car.

Jury trials were granted to fifteen strike pickets in the South (Clark) street court. They had been arrested in the South Market street strike zone.

SELLING merchandise or services may be easy or difficult in proportion to the preconceived plan of effort. Some people cling to old ways. Others use modern methods. They are the successful ones—often termed "lucky."

This generation enjoys the speed of distribution and the huge quantity of circulation of metropolitan newspapers that is unique in the history of publishing. A good newspaper is the constant companion of the average citizen. It goes with him on trains, into his office, into his home and club. Through its news columns and editorials it furnishes him with his daily intellectual activity—it satisfies his craving to know what goes on in the broad world outside his range of action—it furnishes him with local and domestic gossip—it supplies his daily modicum of humor, history, art and literature.

It follows naturally that the newspaper that holds such a vital place in the everyday life of a man or woman offers to the seller of merchandise or service the best possible reader interest available anywhere.

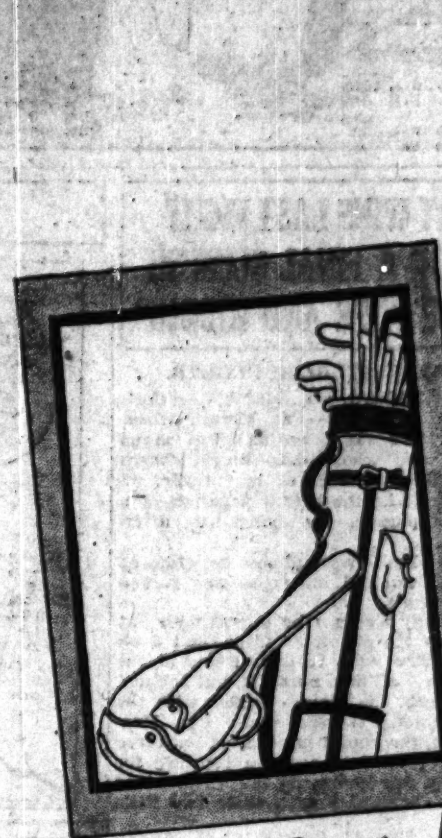

Through the use of space in a newspaper so quickly printed, so widely distributed, so eagerly looked for and read, the Want Advertiser is enabled to present his offer to prospects at a sales cost in keeping with modernized methods. And the Want Ad Section of a great metropolitan newspaper is no less marvelous or useful than the radio, the telephone, or any other modern development.

Through the purchase of a small amount of space in The Tribune Want Ad Section you can rent a store, sell a talking machine, let an apartment or sell a residence; you can sell sporting goods, pianos, antiques, musical instruments; you can find a job or procure good help. At a small cost you can use the most modern and successful machinery of selling in America!

Castle Gate, Utah, March 8.—(By Associated Press.)—With one rescuee dead and another badly injured, the Utah Fuel company No. 2 mine, a distance of 2,500 or more in the main passage, and have found pure air, according to a bulletin issued by the company at 12:05 this morning. There is no indication of fire, the bulletin said. An effective organization under the direction of the company's chief engineer, who is working untiringly and earnestly to rescue the men, is expected to be in operation by 1:30 a. m. and the men were expected to be taken out in an hour.

The only hope for the entombed men is that those who were not killed directly by the blast were able to escape the mine quickly enough to block the deadly gases which were pouring into the mine and had been pouring into the mine since the explosion.

Some hope is expressed for the fortunate enough to be near the aid station, which is located about 100 feet from the mouth of the main tunnel.

Most of the men entombed are married and have families. Only two were single, with three black and orders from the company cut down the work force by taking off single men or those who had no dependents.

George Wilson, superintendent of the mine, is the first known victim. He was asphyxiated while leading a rescue crew. Five of his companions were overcome, but were revived by the first aid workers. Wilson, picked up about 500 feet from the entrance.

The first explosion occurred between 11:15 and 11:30. It was violent according to people who were on the outside. It was immediately followed by another destructive blast. Twenty minutes later a third followed.

Telephone and electric light pipes, pipes and debris that were in the mainway were blown across the way, which is nearly a mile wide. Second explosion devastated the mine and added to the damage of the first. The third completed the destruction by causing a caving. The building, a hundred feet from the shaft, was partially destroyed.

Nurses and doctors arrived from Lake City by a special train at 10:00. Mine rescue cars are en route from Dawson and Butte. The rescue at the mine is made up of volunteers from various other mines in the district. The Red Cross is rendering aid to the families of the entombed men, and other organizations are preparing to help care for the sufferers.

Hundreds Stare at Pit.—The rescuers are working frantically to remove the debris at the main entrance and hundreds of onlookers stare at the surrounding hills. Mothers, sisters, brothers, and relatives of the entombed miners look on anxiously.

A few are shedding tears, but great majority are making a game of it to maintain hope. In the town women and wives, who are generally waiting at the gates to meet their husbands and sons coming home from the mine, stand as silent and as motionless as the great stone mountain that looms over the valley.

Have you heard anything from "Bert"? is the question asked of those returning from the mine. Those who are waiting.
